Art Unit: 2632

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

page 8, last line, after "turned" should be inserted --on--.

Appropriate correction is required.

2. The drawings are objected to because:

lead lines are required for the reference numerals in Figs. 1-3, in accordance with 37 CFR 1.84(q); and in the flow chart of Fig. 2, associated with "diamond"-shaped block 206, the result (line with arrow) to the left of the block should have "Yes" or "Y" adjacent to it, and the result (line with arrow) to the right of the block should have "No" or "N" adjacent to it.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

3. Claim 29 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(a) for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 29, last line, it appears that "initiating" should be --initiate--.

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 2632

5. Claims 1-24 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The preamble of claim 1 is confusing as to whether it is the first recited "system" (i.e. "A system") or the second recited "system" (i.e. a surveillance system) that actually detects the person. Note that the function of the first recited "system" is "...for detecting the presence of a person in an environment", while that same "environment" is "monitored by a surveillance system (i.e. the second recited "system") that has at least one sensor". Put another way, it is unclear if the "surveillance system" is being used for presence detection or for some other purpose, i.e. it is unclear what is being sensed by the "sensor".

In claim 1, the phrases "likely to result in harm" (line 3) and "the likelihood of harm" (end of claim) are unclear as to who (or what) is causing the "harm", and who (or what) is being "harmed".

In claim 1, next-to-last line, "sends a signal to initiate remedial action" is indefinite as to which entity receives the "sen(t)" signal and/or "initiate(s)" the remedial action.

Likewise, in claim 11 it is unclear whether or not the "surveillance system" on line 1 is using its "sensor" to detect the "presence" of the person (line 2), or for some other purpose.

In claim 11, next-to-last line, it is unclear which entity generates the "electronic signal", and whether detecting "the presence of a hazardous condition" is in any way related to detecting the presence of a person (line 2), or "detecting a face" (lines 4-5), in terms of which detected conditions are necessary for "initiating a remedial action" (end of claim).

Likewise, in claim 30 it is unclear whether or not the "surveillance system" on line 4 is using its "sensor" to detect the "presence" of the person (line 3), or for some other purpose.

In claim 30, last 2 lines, it is unclear which entity generates the "electronic signal", and whether detecting "the presence of a hazardous condition" is in any way related to detecting the presence of a person (line 3), or "detect(ing) a face" (line 7), in terms of which detected conditions are necessary for "initat(ing) an alarm" (next-to-last line).

In claim 20, it is unclear whether the "surveillance system" (line 2) is being used to carry out the "intrusion" function (mentioned on line 1), or is being used for some other purpose; i.e., it is unclear what is being sensed by the "sensor".

Art Unit: 2632

6. Claims 25-28 are allowed. Claims 1-24 and 29-30 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, or objection(s) under 37 CFR 1.75(a), set forth in this Office action.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

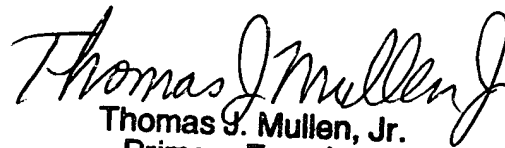

Prokupets et al (US 2003/23874, see paragraph 0065, lines 26-38) and Redlich et al (US 2003/70077, see paragraph 0181 and Fig. 8) teach monitoring unauthorized entry-type and/or hazard-type conditions associated with computer systems, and providing an appropriate response (e.g. data backup, access control, alarm). Pirim et al (US 6717518, see Figs. 25-26) and Gutta et al (US 6720880, see the Abstract and Fig. 1) disclose safety-type systems using image capture and pattern recognition-type devices to detect a type of person or particular characteristic thereof.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Thomas J. Mullen, Jr. whose telephone number is 571-272-2965. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday from 6:30 AM to 4 PM. The examiner can also be reached on alternate Fridays.
